

ANVERSA collection Chests of light

Design by Fausto Dalla Torre

Strictly essential and geometrical.

The lamps of the Anversa collection are luminous boxes with a rigorous and linear structure able to be triumphant even in the most sophisticated contemporary environments, never losing their individuality and functionality.

The statics of the shapes creates decisive outlines to consent the development of a treasury chest able to keep the most precious jewel: light.

The materials employed are brass and glass.

The processing of this collection, like all of Il Fanale's, follows an artisanal approach, sticking to tradition. Metals undergo an accelerated oxidation process to receive an old-looking patina. Every single element of the lamps is hand-cleaned, polished or matted through the application of suitable waxes and patinas.

The collection is available in several dimensions and in the pendant, appliqué, table lamp versions.
